

Child Investments

Want to give your kids a financial kick start or considering saving for their future education needs?

Looking to invest in your children's future?

Many parents, Grandparents, Aunts and Uncles are now seeking alternative options to bank accounts to help their children and loved ones save and build assets for the future.

If this is you and you are seeking a higher return than the current interest rates available on many savings accounts, reach out and connect with us to discuss your specific needs.

Strategy options we can discuss:

- Education bonds - perfect for saving for future education expenses.
- Investment bonds - looking for a longer term investment alternative that can be gifted at a certain age?
- Investment account - depending on your timeframe or plans for funds being invested, a personal investment account may be the most appropriate option available.
- Alternative cash base investments - these are not backed by the Government Guarantee (like term deposits or bank accounts); however offer you access to an alternative form of cash investing, with the potential of higher returns.
